Crime prevention advice

MAIL, PHONE AND EMAIL SCAMS
Blanket emails, calls or post are sent asking for money in return for a larger sum of money or something valuable.

Once the victim speaks with the scammer, more requests for larger amounts of money are made promising something in return that never comes.

The victim's details will then be put on a 'scammers' list – more and more scammers will contact them.

WHAT TO LOOK FOR

- Unusually high quantities of mail.
- Are they secretive about their mail?
- Are they receiving scam phone calls?
- Do they possess cheap looking goods?
- Do they visit the post office regularly?
- Do they deny there is a problem?

WHAT TO DO

- Tell a trusted friend or relative if you can or ask the victim to speak to them.
- Advise them to change phone numbers.
- Block withheld numbers.
- Consider mail redirection.
- Advise they are probably on a list and may receive more mail or calls.
- If details have gone out, tell your bank.
